

Sinclair uses public airways--free--supposedly to serve the community. Serving up one biased point of view does not serve our best interest. Sinclair has an obligation to either air a film showing Bush's warts (it's not like they're not available) or to air a film showing Kerry's positives (it's not like it's not available).

Airing films like this just days before the election underscores why people are so contemptuous and distrusting of Big Media--and Big Business by extension. Bush's buddies in other words. Good journalism is balanced. This is not good journalism.

Please don't let them do this!
